

Someone is going to telephone you and ask about your life.

Not a thing to unwrap — a conversation, and then a children's book made out of one story you tell. Your words, your details, printed and illustrated for the children in your family.

Hi _____ — _____ has arranged something for you. You'll get a call from Fireside Tales. The interviewer is an AI, not a person, and the call is recorded so we can turn one of your stories into a children's book. It's about 30-45 minutes and there's nothing to prepare. If you'd rather not, just say so on the call or don't pick up — no hard feelings, and I get my money back.
